PREFACE

The implementation of the Four-Year Undergraduate Programme (FYUGP) has been driven by the pressing need to address contemporary challenges ensuring responsive changes to the evolving needs of students, industry, and society at large. The Undergraduate Programme (Bachelor of Arts) in Social Science -Optional History is an integral part of FYUGP of Kannur University, designed to equip students with the essential skills and knowledge to thrive in today's rapidly evolving world. As the University intends to provide a holistic and multidisciplinary education that goes beyond mere academic learning, the curriculum is designed to foster the intellectual, aesthetic, social and ethical development of students, preparing them to face the challenges of the 21st century with confidence and competence.

More than understanding factual and theoretical knowledge of what happened in the past, the courses of history is aimed at enabling the learners to develop egalitarian, secular and rational values and awareness, which are extremely pertinent to maintain democratic political culture of the country and to preserve peaceful co-existence of all the people beyond the parochial boundaries of religion, caste, culture etc.

The Four Year Under Graduate Programme (FYUGP) in Social Science - Optional History is built upon the principles of Outcome Based Education (OBE), which places emphasis on defining clear learning outcomes and empowering students to actively engage in their educational journey. Through a combination of theoretical study, practical exercises, and experiential learning opportunities, students will develop a range of essential skills and competencies that are highly valued in today's job market.

The Undergraduate Programme in Social Science -Optional History shall have three Broad Pathways, (a) 3-year UG Degree, (b) 4-year UG Degree (Honors), and (c) 4-year UG Degree (Honours with Research). The syllabi include Discipline Specific Core (DSC) courses, Discipline Specific Elective (DSE) courses, Multidisciplinary Courses (MDC), Value Added Courses (VAC) and Skill Enhancement Courses (SEC).

Hence, the purpose of teaching Social Sciences particularly History at the tertiary level is to facilitate students' unlearning of preconceived notions acquired through primary socialization and schooling. This process empowers students to construct their own scientifically informed understandings of History, guided by rigorous examination and critical analysis. Current syllabi are designed with these disciplinary and societal imperatives in mind, aiming to cultivate a nuanced and comprehensive understanding of the past and writing History among students. Moreover, the FYUGP in Social Science emphasises the importance of interdisciplinary learning and global awareness. Students will have the opportunity to explore connections between History and other fields of study, such as literature, science, politics, and religion, gaining insights into the interconnectedness of human knowledge and experience. By engaging with diverse perspectives and cultures, students will develop a greater appreciation for the richness and complexity of the world we inhabit.

The syllabus presented herewith is the output of academic debates among historians, history faculty members, research scholars and students at formal and informal levels of gatherings. The workshop on syllabus revision, with its democratic approach of considering valuable suggestions from all stakeholders of higher education, and the FYUGP curriculum of Kannur University were crucial to restructuring the existing syllabi. FYUGP in History offers 42 Discipline Specific Courses (DSC-Major and Minor) 6 Discipline Specific Elective Core Courses (DSE), 9 Multi Disciplinary Courses (MDC) 3 Value Addition Courses (VAC) and 3 Skill Enhancement Courses (SEC). The syllabus of each course at the outset itself clearly states its learning outcomes, which are in agreement with History Programme Specific Outcomes and University FYUGP Programme Outcomes.

KANNUR UNIVERSITY

PROGRAM OUTCOMES (POs)

Program Outcomes (POs) serve as a foundational framework defining the skills, knowledge, and attributes that students at Kannur University are expected to acquire upon completion of a specific academic program. Tailored to the unique goals of each program, POs articulate the overarching learning objectives that guide curriculum design and assessment. These outcomes encompass a diverse range of competencies, including critical thinking, problem-solving, effective communication, and discipline-specific expertise. POs play a crucial role in shaping educational experiences, ensuring alignment with academic standards and industry expectations. By articulating clear and measurable expectations, POs contribute to the continuous improvement of academic programs and provide a roadmap for students to develop into well-rounded, competent professionals within their chosen fields.

- PO1: Critical Thinking and Problem-Solving: Apply critical thinking skills to analyse information and develop effective problem-solving strategies for tackling complex challenges.
- PO2: Effective Communication and Social Interaction: Proficiently express ideas and engage in collaborative practices, fostering effective interpersonal connections.
- PO3: Holistic Understanding: Demonstrate a multidisciplinary approach by integrating knowledge across various domains for a comprehensive understanding of complex issues.
- PO4: Citizenship and Leadership: Exhibit a sense of responsibility, actively contribute to the community, and showcase leadership qualities to shape a just and inclusive society.
- PO5: Global Perspective: Develop a broad awareness of global issues and an understanding of diverse perspectives, preparing for active participation in a globalised world.
- PO6: Ethics, Integrity and Environmental Sustainability: Uphold high ethical standards in academic and professional endeavours, demonstrating integrity and ethical decision-making. Also acquire an understanding of environmental issues and sustainable practices, promoting responsibility towards ecological well-being.
- PO7: Lifelong Learning and Adaptability: Cultivate a commitment to continuous self-directed learning, adapting to evolving challenges, and acquiring knowledge throughout life.

	Directions
	1.Mind maps are graphical representations of ideas, concepts, and information with a central topic or theme, for brainstorming, organizing thoughts, and visualizing complex data. This activity is excellent for collaborating and encouraging even shy students to participate actively. Organizing the information helps students understand it more instead of memorizing who invaded whom and when. 2.Examine the historiography surrounding the Decline of the Roman Empire. What theories do historians put forward to explain the fall of the Roman Empire?

Course Summary: The course aims to familiarise the significant events and developments in the history of India with reference to the economic activities, social relations and institutions that existed in medieval India. This paper would enable the students to analysis and explain the formation of secular political values in India. The Course will explore how the aspects of the plurality of India evolved and developed as a blended culture and culminated in cultural synthesis. The course aims to analyse how the systems and institutions in medieval India worked as a linkage effect in subsequent centuries for the foundation of colonial modernity. The study of individual rulers and dynasty are avoided as they are taught in detail at school level.

Course Summary: With far-reaching effects on human cultures, climate change is an important and serious worldwide issue. The historical aspects of climate change and its effects on human civilizations are examined in this course. Students who study the intricate connections between climate, global warming and cooling, and human societies will have a thorough grasp of how the current condition of the climate crisis—which is often regarded as a defining characteristic of the Anthropocene—came to be. It accepts students from a variety of academic backgrounds, including the humanities and social sciences, by introducing them to interdisciplinary learning. The link between climate, scientific knowledge, and human societies is examined in this course. Rather than using the climate as a backdrop for social, political, and economic events, the course will first examine the role of climate as a historical actor of global history.

Learning outcomes

After completing this course, students should be able to -

CO: 1 - Understand the past interactions between human societies and the climate.

CO: 2 - Explore climate as an active historical actor rather than a passive backdrop.

CO: 3-Examine case studies from around the world to illustrate the impact of climate on human civilizations.

CO: 4 - Comprehend the basis of current discussions over global warming, climate change and understand the history of meteorology and climate science.

Course Description: The paper has an object to introduce the content and relevance of the research oriented academic world. As frequent researches are going on in different fields, the researcher should know the updates in the field. The paper aimed at introducing the conditions, norms and standards of a academic writing by walking in lines with the supreme rule, the academic ethics. The paper therefore, introduces the methodology, structuring of the contents, tools of analysis, referencing styles, etc.

Course Outcome :

1. Familiarise the concept of the academic writing and develop an ability to differentiate the academic writing from others.
2. To know the patterns and rules of academic writing.
3. To well understand academic ethics.
4. To promote knowledge on the historic evolution and objectives of academic writing.
5. To acquaint the students the methods of writing, citation and bibliographical methods.

Course Description: Cartography is the art and science of graphically representing a geographical area on a flat surface such as a map or chart. This may involve the superimposition of political, cultural, or other non geographical divisions onto the representation of a geographical area. When defined well, maps, are powerful forms of communication. The practice of cartography requires a basic knowledge of graphic design, computer science, mathematics, statistics, psychology, and most importantly, geography. During this course, we will survey some of the ways that these skills are used in the design and cartoon of maps. In addition, the course material will also include cartographic theory. This course will provide instructions on creating professional maps that will effectively communicate geographic information. History and principles of cartography. Emphasis on field mapping; map projections; exercises in map making.

Course Specific Outcome

An understanding of fundamental cartographic concepts

A familiarity with geographic data

Skills in computer-assisted map design and construction

By satisfactorily completing the course you should be able to produce and design pro maps. These skills can also be used in advanced geography and GIS courses within y program.
